GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 4.—William Howitt writes to the Daily News to-day on the Byron scandal. He says there is little doubt that the altered conduct of Lady Byron towards her husband was the result of her father's representations, backed up by some odious story. He traces the conduct of the wife in buying up the husband's memoir and destroying it, and asks if the evidence of a party destroying the evidence of an opponent can be accepted. This same act of depriving Byron of the opportunity of self-justification, deprived his wife of the right to advance fresh charges. The writer feels certain that this will be the ultimate verdict of the public.

The Marquis of Hartington attended the Cutlers' banquet at Sheffield, last night, and made a speech. He said the task for the ensuing session of Parliament would be the settlement of the Irish land question. He hoped the subject would be debated with as little political feeling as possible. It had never been the battle ground. Men were comparatively unpledged, and statesmen of various opinions showed an honest disposition to grapple with the difficulties surrounding this matter.

The Times comments as follows on Cardinal Cullen's last pastoral, and on the claims put forth by the Roman Catholic Bishops of Ireland: "They demand the overthrow of common education and exaltation of denominationalism. The language of Archbishop Cullen must provoke resentment. The pretensions of the Catholic hierarchy towards the State are intolerable and there is not one of their resolves on education which the people will not impartially repudiate, and which, if brought before Parliament, will not be rejected. The lesson of the past two years seems lost on these prelates. They have not understood how a proposal of great moderation and acknowledged wisdom proved abortive last session through the profound antipathy of Parliament to applying the public money to Catholic churches. The present proposals are about as hopeless as any that could be propounded. England and Scotland will not listen to them. Even in Ireland they will not command the assent of classes interested in higher education, and in Parliament they would be mentioned only to be condemned."

Prince Kung's dispatch to Mr. Burlingame thanks him for his services, and asks him to intercede with the Peruvian Government in behalf of Chinese laborers, who are badly treated in the mines and guano diggings of Peru.

FRANCE.

PARIS, September 4.—The Presse says Dr. Nelaton, the Emperor's physician, contradicts the alarming reports constantly arising in regard to the health of the Emperor. Dr. Nelaton declares his convalescence will be rapid if he takes the necessary rest. Public reports represent the Emperor as fast recovering, and that he remained yesterday evening conversing with the Empress until eleven o'clock.

The Journal Official reports that the ministers met in council to-day, but makes no mention of the presence of the Emperor. Prince Napoleon to-day had an interview with the Emperor.

The Senate, by a vote of 113 to 9, rejected the amendment to the Senatus Consultum proposing a liberal reform in the constitution of the Senate. The amendment was supported by Prince Napoleon.

PARIS, September 5.—The L'Public newspaper states that the Emperor retired at a late hour on Friday night. He was somewhat fatigued in the morning, and consequently not present at the council of Ministers held on Saturday. To-day the weather is unfavorable, and the Emperor still feels some weakness, but his physicians believe that the progress of his convalescence cannot be interrupted any length of time. A number of receptions are to take place at St. Cloud to-day, at some of which the Emperor will assist.

The Journal Official to-day is silent on the subject of the Emperor's health.

The Presse reports that the Emperor was unable to take his walk in the private park yesterday.

Queen Christiana has gone to Vichy. It is rumored that she will endeavor to bring over General Prim to the cause of Queen Isabella. The arrival of Don Carlos here is daily expected.

San Francisco Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, September 4.—The Congressional Retrenchment Committee have been busy the entire week investigating the affairs of the Custom House. The particular points under investigation have not transpired.

Treasurer Spinner's defense in regard to the delay of transferrring gold from New York to San Francisco, published in the Journal of Commerce of August 23d, occasions unfavorable comment in financial circles. It is considered an unjust attack upon Vice President Colfax, our bankers and merchants. Mr. Spinner's favoritism is sharply criticised, and it is asked, why should he pay Seligman three quarters of one per cent. for carrying bullion to New York when the Pacific Mail Company offered to carry it for less? Why the opposition company was paid more for the same work than the latter offered to perform it for, and if he had inclination to charge the extra quarter of one per cent. paid the Bank of California to the Assistant Treasurer at New York, to whom ought to be charged the extra compensation paid Seligman and Webb?

A party left to-day for Cincinnati to arrange with the Red Stocking Base Ball Club to visit San Francisco.

—The miners and laborers employed along the line of the Delaware and Hudson works held a meeting Saturday and determined to resume work as soon as possible on the terms of compromise. The result of the meeting has been communicated to the Superintendent of the coal department, and he is using all exertions in preparing for the resumption of work. The men are to receive the same prices as the men at the Pensylvania, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company's men.

THE TEST OATH.

Attorney General Hoar's Opinion on the Test Oath in Virginia.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, September 4.—The following is Attorney General Hoar's opinion, received this morning by Gen. Canby:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, Washington, D. C., August 28, 1869.—To Hon. Jno. A. Rawlins, Secretary of War: Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of July 27th, 1869, in which you request my opinion upon so much of the questions submited in the letter of the Commanding General of the First Military District, dated the 10th instant, and accompanying papers, copies of which are enclosed, as refers to the legal qualifications of officers to be elected under the proposed Constitution of the State of Virginia, and especially upon the question whether persons elected to office in such State under said Constitution are required by the supplemental reconstruction act of July 19, 1867, to take and subscribe to the oath prescribed or referred to in Section Second of said act before entering upon the duties of their respective offices.

The latter question is the only one indicated with such distinctness as to enable me to be fully satisfied that its purport is apprehended, and I will, therefore, confine my answer to that.

By the statute of April 10, 1869, the registered voters of Virginia were authorized to vote on the question of the adoption of the Constitution for the State, and at the same time to elect officers under it, subject to the approval of Congress. The vote has been taken in pursuance of the provisions of the act and the election held, and some parts of the Constitution submitted have been adopted by the people and others rejected. The parts of the proposed Constitution thus adopted, if they shall be approved by Congress, will be the Constitution of Virginia, under which all its officers will be required to act, and the qualifications as well as duties of these officers will be determined by it. When Virgina is restored to its proper relation to the country as a State of the Union, its officers and Legislature will be such as the Constitution of the State provides, deriving their powers from that instrument, and it will clearly not be in the power of Congress to impose any requirements of additional qualification upon them different from those which, under the Constitution of the United States, may be required in all States. If, therefore, any test were to be imposed on the members of the Legislature not provided by the Constitution of Virginia, or any restriction imposed upon the people of the State in their choice of officers not recognized by it, and not made applicable under the legitimate powers of Congress to all States, the Legislature and officers would not in my opinion be the Legislature and officers of Virginia under the Constitution. I do not see that Congress can undertake to furnish the State with a suitable Legislature to start with, or to exercise any control over its composition which could not be exercised over subsequent Legislatures.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that the oath prescribed by the statute of 1862, and by the statute of July 19, 1867, chapter 40, section 9, required to be taken by all persons elected or appointed to office in the said military district, under any so called State or municipal authority, is not to be required of the officers of the State of Virginia or members of the Legislature elected under the new Constitution.

It does not seem to me that the provisions of this 9th section, which are applicable to the government of States under military authority, were intended to apply to the Legislature and officers under whom the State is to be restored to its proper relation to the Union, and by whom the government of the State is to be administered after restoration. This opinion is strongly confirmed by a reference to the 2d section of the same act, which authorizes the commander of any district named in the act to suspend or remove from office, or from the performance of official powers, any officer or person holding or exercising, or professing to hold or exercise, any civil or military office or duty in said district, under any power, election, appointment or authority derived from or granted or claimed under the so called State government thereof, and to detail a competent officer or soldiers of the army to perform such duties. It would be impossible to suppose that Congress could intend that a Legislature under the Constitution of a State could have its members appointed by a detail from soldiers of the army.

The reasonable conclusion seems to me to be that it was not intended that any such Legislature should be allowed to exist until reconstruction was completed, except for the limited and qualified purposes requisite to reconstruction. But on the other hand, I fully concur with the view of the General commanding in Virginia, that under the reconstruction acts of Congress no officer or legislator is competent or should be permitted to exercise any function or office within that State, except so far as these acts themselves provide, without taking the oath which is referred to in the statute of 1867, above quoted.

The Act of April 10, 1869, requires the Legislature to meet at a time which it designates. That is, to meet implies that it is to come together for some purpose. It is required under the previous law to act upon the question of adopting the 15th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States before the admission of the State to representation in Congress.

I am of the opinion, therefore, that it may come together, organize, and act upon that amendment; but that until Congress shall have approved the Constitution and the action under it, and shall have restored the State to its proper place in the Union, by recognizing its form of government as Republican and admitting it to representation, the Legislature is not entitled and could not, without violation of law, be allowed to transact any business, pass any act or resolve, or undertake to assume any other functions of a Legislature, if the test oath has not been required of its members, and that no officer elected under the new Constitution can enter upon the duties of his office without taking the oath, while the military government continues.

Very respectfully,

E. R. HOAR, Attorney General.

Gen. Canby will issue his proclamation of the election about the 15th inst. He is delayed by disputed returns from one county. The State officers will be inaugurated on the assembling of the Legislature.

SECRETARY RAWLINS ON HIS DEATH BED.

It was thought yesterday that Secretary Rawlins was convalescent, but about four o'clock he began to fail. He rallied a little at nine o'clock in the evening. At eleven o'clock, however, his pulse became very feeble and he lay without any noticeable change until eight o'clock this this morning, when he called for and eat his breakfast, after which he directed the disposition of matters in relation to his own private business. At eleven o'clock there was a favorable change. During the afternoon various friends called, including Secretaries Cox, Fish and Robeson, Postmaster General Cresswell, Gen. Sherman, who returned to Washington this morning, Commissary General Eaton, General Ekin of the Quartermaster's Department, Commissioner of Indian Affairs Parker, and Gen. Howard. Many inquiries were made during the day regarding his health at the house of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, Gen. Giles A. Smith, of Illinois, with whom he has recently made his home. Dr. Bliss, who is the attendant physician, has been in constant consultation with Surgeon General Barnes, Dr. Norris and others of like prominence. The Secretary's personal friends are unwearied in their efforts to render services, while General Dent, of the President's household, has, without intermission, remained at his bedside and sent telegrams to President Grant regarding the condition of the Secretary. This afternoon, at his own request, he was visited by a Methodist clergyman by whom he was baptised and with whom, at a subsequent hour, he partook of the sacrament. He has throughout his sickness been conscious of his real condition and has signed all papers which may affect the future circumstances of his family. At eight o'clock to night he was resting quietly. No aggravation of the symptoms is at present anticipated, but there is no prospect of his final recovery. His moral courage is such that his life may be prolonged for a day.

President Grant is expected to arrive at Washington to-morrow. The condition of Secretary Rawlins casts a gloom over the entire city and is the theme of conversation in all circles.

At half past twelve to-night Secretary Rawlins appeared to be free from pain and was asleep. There has been no perceptible change in his condition for the last three hours.

Condition of Senator Fessenden.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTLAND, September 4.—At midnight last night both of Senator Fessenden's physicians had given up all hopes of his recovery. He is gradually sinking and appeared to be in a delirious stupor. He was taken Tuesday morning with stoppage of the bowels, since which time the disorder has assumed a violent form. It is thought he might possibly live until morning, but his death is a mere question of time.

Noon—Senator Fessenden is about the same. Dr. Lincoln thinks his complaint is complicated by the remains of poison taken into his system at the National Hotel in Washington some years ago, and from which he has suffered several times since.

4:30 P. M.—Senator Fessenden is somewhat better and has taken some nourishment.

PORTLAND, Maine, September 5.—Senator Fessenden passed a comfortable night last night. He has improved a little to-day, so that hopes are now entertained of his recovery.

PRESIDENT GRANT.

He Foregoes a Visit to Utica and Hurries to the Death Bed of Secretary Rawlins.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SARATOGA, September 5.—The President left here in the 5:50 train this P. M. for Washington. He was to have left to-morrow morning for Utica with his family, to visit Hon. Roscoe Conkling. The character of the dispatch received from Washington to-day has induced the President to write the following letter:

SARATOGA, N. Y., SEPT. 5, 1869.—To the Hon. Roscoe Conkling: My Dear Sir—It is with extreme regret that the continued and dangerous illness of Secretary Rawlins, whose relations with me have been so intimate from the breaking out of the rebellion to the present day, compels me to forego the contemplated pleasure of a visit to your city to-morrow. I know that you and my other friends will appreciate the motive which calls me from a pleasure trip to the bedside of a comrade who has rendered such signal service to his country and whose death will cast a gloom over the nation. The most recent dispatches scarcely leave a hope that I may see him alive.

I am, very sincerely, yours.

Y., were arrested Saturday, on a charge of violating the revenue laws relating to stamping lager beer kegs and barrels, and held for examination in from $1,000 to $4,000 each. Evidence was presented that these parties had sold beer from kegs or barrels which were either unstamped or had removed the stamps uncancelled in order to use them again. Huffel, one of the accused, is the owner of two very large breweries in Morrisiana. Considerable excitement was caused by these arrests.

"EXETER CHANGE."

This is the title of a small pamphlet edited by "Snug, the Joiner," and devoted to making fun of the British association at Exeter. The following poem, "The Wail of the Mathematician," relates to the last year's meeting at Norwich. It is a good specimen of grim, scientific humor:

Tompkins, leave here a little, while the section work it on:
Leave me here to write a letter; I shall bless you when you're gone.

'Tis the place where I, astounded, read the notice of my doom;
Dreary seems the morning paper in this dull reception room.

Many a night at former meetings, have I, as I went to rest,
Thought I could my Kate rely on, hoping wholly for the best.

Many a night I led her safely through a crush of members famed,
Brought her ices, cake, and coffee, told her how the things were named.

Once about the beech we wandered, spooning in a way sublime,
While the dreary tales of science were reserved for a future time.

When geologists before us on contorted strata posed,
We were sure to find a seaweed in a place not so much exposed.

When we peeped into the sections, every member might have known
That the whole of my attention was absorbed by her alone.

At the time when Dr. Hooker, the Darwinian standard raised;
At the time when sharp Miss Becker got herself unduly praised;

At the time when Father Secchi fraterniz d with prelates grave:
Then it was that I discovered I was simply Kitty's slave.

And I said, "My gentle cousin, a monomial we may be,
But I crave a higher power for the factors you and me.

And she blushed and answer'd sweetly, "I will ne'er your spirit vex,
You have but to equate papa, dear, to obtain the hoped for x.

Love took up the fair equation, brought to it a light divine,
But a fatal transposition gave me minus a sign.

O my cousin, stony hearted! Fickle Kitty, once my dear!
O this dreary, dreary meeting! O, this barren, barren year!

Is it well to wish you happy—having known a man like me,
When you stoop to pluck a husband from that horrid section D?

Yet it shall be; you will lower to his level year by year,
Till your taste for abstract science will completely disappear.

As the husband is, the wife is: your mated to a bore,
And the coarseness of his studies will degrade you more and more.

He will hold you, when his theories shall have taken proper shape,
Something better than a frog, a little less than an ape.

—We notice that when from time to time it becomes necessary for any of our Democratic exchanges to chronicle a new list of Republican nominees, if that list is a particularly strong one, with the names chosen out as being the very hardest for the opposition to defeat, the above mentioned Democratic exchanges at once, with high-toned scorn, proclaim that corruption was especially rampant in the nominating convention and "the ring was again triumphant." We can, however, hardly blame the Democrats for this little attempt at subterfuge, when it is often participated in by the ruined or ruing politicians of our own party.

AT A MEEETING of the Chamber of Commerce to-day, a communication was received from the Mediterranean and Oriental Steamship Company, directing attention to the fact that American trade with Europe, including the lucrative passenger traffic, is now monopolized by foreign flags. They propose to establish a first-class line of steamers between New York, Norfolk, and other Southern ports and the Mediterranean, with connections reaching through the Suez Canal to the East Indies, Japan, etc. The company ask the co-operation of the Chamber in this effort to recover the prestige of the American flag, and add that it is their intention to despatch a vessel to represent this port in the grand ceremony of opening the Suez Canal, on the 17th of Novemper next. The communication was referred to the Executive Committee. —New York Letter of Thursday.

FASHIONS FOR SEPTEMBER.

An Unfashionable Month—What Will be Worn—A Genuine Trousseau.

[From a New York Letter to the Boston Post.]

Of fashion, as fashion, there is nothing, to say for this month, all the fashion writers and all the fashion magazines to the contrary notwithstanding. Anything new or original is not to be found, and the great modistes, and other people who are supposed to know, are simply at their wits' end to give satisfactory answers to the crowd of questioners that, anticipating the season, and desirous of getting the fall sewing done, pour down upon them like an avalanche. It is true that fall styles are sold and fall goods are exhibited but they are the refuse of last season, and are sold at reduced prices to that class of thrifty persons who care more for economy than fashion, and who cannot see the use of paying double the price for a fabric or a design because it is "new."

INDICATION OF WHAT WILL BE WORN.

The walking suit, a trifle shorter than has been worn during the past season, may be relied upon, trimmed heavily with fringe of the same shade, with black velvet, or with bindings and pipings, upon a vandyked edge. Black ribbon velvet will be very largely worn, both with suits and house dresses. It is often mounted in loops, rosettes, round or square bows, upon stiff net, and thus forms setts which can be removed from one dress to another. The setts thus used upon white pique in summer will serve for merino, rep, or poplin in winter. House dresses of blue, green, or scarlet cashmere or merino, will be made perfectly plain, with a demi-train and ornamented with braces of broad ribbon velvet, caught up on the shoulders with square bows, and finished at the back with double square bow and pendent loops. Or the body may be opened in front, worn with a chemisette, and the cuffs revers faced with velvet of the same shade as the material, corded upon the edge with satin to match, still again close the body and instead of the revers add a "sailor" collar and cuffs of velvet piped in the same way, and you have a choice of three styles, all equally novel and fashionable. The combination of black with white has been reserved and promises this season to be more in vogue than ever. Rich black silks are trimmed with pique and white satin folds and pipings. Edges cut out in vandykes have taken the place of ruffles to some extent, and are more appropriate to thick materials.

SKIRTS AND TRAINS.

Trains will be worn upon evening dresses, but the skirts, when the material is rich and costly, will be very little trimmed. Bodies are still cut square and high upon the shoulders. A standing ruff of lace not unfrequently takes the place of a chemisette, and a necklace or handsome locket pendent from black velvet hanging upon the neck, but the style is only becoming to a full round figure, with beautiful arms, as the sleeves are short and only finished with a ruff of lace at the elbows. There is no change at present in the cut of skirts nor in the size of loops, worn with short dresses. The latter are still restricted to about seventy-five inches at the base. It is not unlikely, however, that while this size is adhered to for the remainder of the year, another spring may see a change in the somewhat larger styles worn in London and Paris. One of the questions most frequently asked and most difficult to aswer is: "What will be worn to complete suits?" In all probability the Polonaise will be revived again this fall and winter. It is as sensible and comfortable a garment, so much better adapted to thick materials than two skirts and the small basque, that I sincerely hope it will. In cloth, small double and triple capes, pinked out, will be fashionable, and these might be added with very good effect to the Polonaise, if the suit was of ribbed or water proof cloth. For those who cannot afford many changes in fancy costumes, a good serviceable material is the most important item in a fall and winter suit, and for best there is nothing as good, so lady-like and always useful, as black silk, trimmed with the material either in ruffles and folds, or the edge cut out in vandykes, bound and piped in black silk, one deep ruffle, headed with a vandyke (point up,) being allowed for the underskirt. A point worth remembering is that the ruffles worn on the top of the sleeves are no longer turned down upon the arm, but are turned up towards the shoulders. Roman scarfs, striped in rich colors, but in fine lines, upon black cashmere grounds, and finished with deep fringe and tassels, containing all the colors of the stripes, are arranged in various picturesque ways, over suits for cool weather. Scotch plaid shawls will be in vogue for the same purpose as the cold season advances. The Caledonian cloak of English water-proof is an improvement on our circular. It perfectly envelopes the figure, has sleeves with casings and ruffle at the wrist, a small rouud hood, and is cut high on the shoulder giving a fine bust and fitting handsomely. It is very comfortable and thoroughly protective.

A REAL TROSSEAU.

The following are the genuine figures of a very moderate outfit furnished to a young lady by order from a New York establishment. It may be stated, however, that the parties supplying it said they should not like to get up another at that price. It may furnish an approximate estimate, however, for hundreds of other young women who are contemplating matrimony, and outfits in the future. The list, it will be seen, does not include under-clothing:—

TO KEEP GRAPES through winter take boxes the size of candle boxes; nail pieces across the ends to lay slats on; put in the bottom a newspaper. Have ready a dish of hot sealing wax, and dip the ends of the stems in this. Put a layer in the box carefully, then a paper, then put in your slats, then a paper, then grapes again, and so on till full, not more than three layers in a box. Nail up tight; keep in a cool, dry place, until cold weather; then place in a dry cellar. Grapes in this way will keep till March.

DR. WHITTIER

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore improdent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.

A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.

It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK.

The oil market continues sensative and unsettled, though compared with last week, it is stronger and prices higher. This it attributed to the suspension of operations by a number of our refiners, and consequent decrease in shipments more than anything else, though, it is true, the improved character of the foreign advices may have had something to do with it. As already intimated, both crude and refined have advanced somewhat within the past two or three days: in the early part of the week the market was weak and lower, which was brought about by a strong bear movement in New York. Since then, however, the New Yorkers have quit selling, and some of them, at least, have been buying, and this accounts for firmness which has since sprung up and advanced prices.

Receipts Crude this week, 25,450; last week, 16,862; from January 1st to date, 548,945; same time last year, 767,040; Exports Refined this week, 11,159; last week, 13,033; January 1st to date, 355,117; same time last year, 442,497. Sales this week, 69,500; last week, 110,600.

From the above will it be seen that while receipts of crude have increased nearly 10,000 bbls during the week, the shipment of refined have fallen off 1,974 bbls. It will also be seen that the receipts of crude and shipments of refined from January 1st to date, are considerably behind those of the corresponding time last year.

RIVER NEWS.

The river is about stationary, with less than 20 inches by the Monongahela marks. The weather was warm yesterday than it has been for several days.

—The Argosy has been chartered and has gone into the Cincinnati and Portsmouth trade.

—The Kate Putnam is being repainted at Cincinnati.

It is rumored that the price paid for the Great Republic was something over $90,000. She cost over $280,000 when she first came out.

—It is stated on good authority that the Great Republic has been sold by Capt. H. K. Hazlett and others, to some parties of this city, and that Capt. W. B. Donaldson will at once assume command.

—The following steamers have been sold: One-half of the steamer Hesper by James Lee, Jr,, of Memphis, to John Collier, of Sterling, Ill., for $4,500. One-fourth of the Osage, by Mr. A. Cade, of Levnaworth, to Samuel R. Cade, of the same place, for $725.

—A Louisville dispatch, under date of Thursday, says: The Common Council to-night adopted an ordinance submitting to the voters of the city a proposition to subscribe $150,000, payable in yearly installments of $30,000, to improve the navigation of Kentucky river.

—The Bardanelle, one of Capt. John Woodburn's new Arkansas river packets, will be ready for trial next week, and for business in about two weeks. Her cabin is completed and she is receiving her wheels and texas. Much of the painting has been done. Her rooms are extra large—none less than six feet, and those in the ladies' cabin, seven feet. She can stow 900 bales cotton.

—The Canada, from St. Louis to St. Paul and return, the fore part of the week, registered 1,066 passengers. In announcing the fact, the St. Louis Democrat, of Wednesday, says: The freight and passenger trade of the Upper Mississippi trade has increased very much in the last few years, and it will increase without doubt doubt at the rate of at least 25 per cent. per annum hereafter

—Dick. Friar, pilot of the Cairo, while asleep, fell out of the pilot house to the hurrican deck, and suffered serious injuries, He had to be conveyed to his residence in a carriage, being unable to walk.....The J D Hine has been sold at New Orleans and goes to Trinity river, Texas.....Red river rates ruled last week at full card to Shreveport, and card one-half to Jefferson. These figures may be considered fixed, without abatement, at present..... The collections for wharfage at St. Louis during the month of August amounted to $8,810,20.

—The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin, of Tuesday, says: About 7 P. M. Saturday the Cleona was run into, at Twelve Mile Point, by the Great Republic. Both packets were going up the river, the Republic for St. Louis and the Cleona for Donaldsonville. By this collision two lives were lost—the porter of the Cleona and a passenger, both colored. The Great Republic towed the Cleona in safely to the bank immediately after the accident. The Welcome, which was but a short distance in the rear, came alongside the Cleona and took off her freight and passengers, after which a tugboat went up and brought the Cleona to the city for repairs. Capt. King estimates the damage incurred by the Cleona at about two thousand dollars.

THE resignation of Senator Grimes, of Iowa, has been deferred too long by a twelve-month, for his National reputation.

VERMONT elects a Governor, State officers and Legislature to-morrow. The Maine election takes place one week from to-day.

THE "prominent journalist" of New York who is mentioned as an applicant for the Chinese mission, is Mr. George Wilkes, of the Spirit of the Times. A dispatch very judiciously remarks that "the appointment would hardly be a popular one."

SENATOR FESSENDEN is lying at the point of death at Portland, Maine, from the effects, it is believed, of the poison so mysteriously administered to the guests of the National Hotel in Washington some years ago. He is in his sixty-third year of life.

THE PROPOSITION for the holding of a Soldiers' Convention in this city at an early date meets with very general favor in the community. Allegheny county is always as ready to extend welcome to the brave soldiers who fought the battles for the Union, as she is to pay them marked tribute in substantial eleven thousand majorities at the ballot box. Let the Convention be called.

EXTENSIVE ARRANGEMENTS are being made for the celebration of the occasion of laying the corner-stone of the proposed new High School building, on the 30th inst. We hope the many friends of that sterling institution will co-operate with the Alumni Association, who are charged with the arrangements, so as to make worthy and memorable the incident in the history of the people's college.

HON. JOHN A. BINGHAM, of Ohio, has accepted an invitation to be present to address our citizens on next Thursday evening, on the Allegheny Diamond Square. Let the eminent orator have such a welcome as was accorded Mr. MORTON at City Hall last week, and let no person fail to be present who would hear the important issues entering the campaign eloquently and intelligently discussed.

IT APPEARS that the money for Mr. Asa Packer's half million endowment of the Lehigh University, did not come out of his own pocket, but was paid by a railway company, in which he was and is interested, the inducement and consideration therefor being the successful negotiation, by that gentleman, of a loan of some millions for the Company from English capitalists. This is a queer story, but it so confidently told, down in the Lehigh Valley, as to demand new evidence before we can consent to credit the reported munificence.

SAYS the Nashville Press:

Gov. Senter is in favor of the ratification. He pledged himself to it, and his platform was indorsed by more than 65,000 majority. He has certainly nerve enough to see that the will of the people shall be obeyed and the amendment ratified.

But the Governor is powerless, against the large majorities in a Legislature which owes its rebel character to his schismatic course. The Press sees this fact, clearly enough, we infer. And so does Senator Brownlow, whose co-operation with the Senter interest has been fatal to his Republican reputation, and cannot be atoned for by the vague promise that his future action in the event that the Article shall be rejected, "shall be determined by his convictions of duty." These gentlemen have unchained an evil spirit in Tennessee which their efforts can never again control.

THE VIRGINIA COMPROMISE.

We have the full text of the opinion given by the Attorney General upon the proposed requirement of the test oath from the members-elect of the Virginia Legislature. A middle ground is taken in this construction of the law. The members will meet as chosen, organize and may then act upon the XVth Article. So much they may do, without taking the test oath, their action so far being altogether provisional, and subject to the Congressional approval. This will be secured or denied when the Representatives now elected shall present themselves to claim their seats at Washington. With their credentials, they will offer the new Constitution and the Legislative certificate of the adoption of the Article. These credentials and papers will be properly referred to the Committees of the House. Reported back favorably, a joint resolution will embody the approval of both branches of Congress. Thereupon, the Representatives would be admitted to their seats, the State officers installed in Richmond, and United States Senators elected. Until this Federal approval has been given, the functions of the new Legislature are confined to the ratification of the Article as directed in the Act to reconstruct the State. If, however, the members shall choose to take the iron-clad oath also, they can proceed with other legislation, in advance of but entirely subject to the chance of that approval. If they proceed now to instal the State officers, these officers, not taking the iron clad test oath, can, under this opinion, have no legal authority until Congress shall have acted.

The Virginia Conservatives are reported as jubilant over this decision. But the honors are divided. Ratifying the Article, they can do nothing more until Congress has spoken. They can organize their provisional Legislature without the iron-clad test, and vote for the Article, and that is all. Taking that oath, they could proceed with other legislation, but this they will decline to do. Undoubtedly, the approval of Congress will be given. Then, that oath will no longer be a barrier in their way. But, until then, its obligations are to be strictly maintained, under legal provisions which are not to be nullified at the Conservative demand, backed up, as this has been, by a few journals like the New York Tribune. Herein, Gen. Canby is sustained by the law-officer of the Government. On the other hand, the Conservatives have only the delay to complain of; otherwise the situation favors them to the full extent as decided by the recent popular vote. In due time, they will elect their own Senators, and take the entire control of the State policy. Then, we shall see how much the Republican professions of Gov. Walker are worth. He has the veto power, and cannot be overslaughed or ignored by the Conservative Legislature. It is possible that they may purchase his retirement from the Executive chair with a Senatorial seat, but the expediency of this course will require an early decision, since the filling of those vacancies will be the first business before them. And they now have all the responsibilities.

HOW TO BURY THE DEAD.

The Louisville Journal says that the Democracy "are in danger of continued defeat, by quarreling and making unwise issues," but they can win "by laying hold of practicable issues instead of clinging to dead ones." It hopes that the last blunder has been made in this respect, and exclaims, "'Let the dead bury their dead.' Ho, for the living, the moving and the real!" This is all very well, but the Journal falls into the common mistake of many Democratic journals just now. It speaks of clinging to dead issues. The expression is singularly faulty. The Democracy do not so much cling to dead issues, as the dead issues cling to them. That's the real rub! The party may have the best disposition in the world to shake them off, and no wonder! But stick they will, so long as a solitary representative of the obnoxious past shall live in the Democratic lead. The dead issues must live until our taxes abate, our debt is paid, our slain soldiers forgotten, their orphans educated and prepared for the duties of life, and American liberty shall be equally the birthright of every citizen. These are the dead issues which shall live to plague their Democratic inventors or their Democratic foes, until their hearty repentance be proved by their works.

The dead issues can only be buried by the Republican friends of the Union, and it is for the opposition to throw down their arms and come to help us in the sacred duty, instead of firing upon us. Help us to pay the debt; unite with us, cheerfully acquiescing in the needful taxation; join with us in honors to our soldiers, living and dead, and to the cause for which they offered all; agree with us upon the equality of civil and political rights to every citizen, of whatever color, race, creed or former condition. If dead issues are to be buried, that is the road for the funeral. Republicanism marches there now, and its ranks are open to all.

They talk in Kentucky, and farther South, of repudiating the war debt. Is that their way of burying a dead issue? They offer in Ohio and Pennsylvania, as their first choice for public trust, candidates who were the bitterest of malignants in their opposition to the maintenance of the Union, and whose bitterness remains unchanged. Is that the way to bury the dead? All over the Union they demand the exclusion from political rights of a race which came to our help at the right moment and in the right way, to save the united Republic from an otherwise inevitable wreck. Is it putting a dead isue out of sight to deny to this race the liberties which they earned for themselves and saved for us?

No! these issues will all remain above ground, until that hour comes when there shall no longer be found, within the two oceans, any party or faction to dishonor or deny them. Then, they may be buried with the hearty concord of all the American people.

THE COMING CRISIS FOR FRANCE.

The recent concessions of the Emperor Napoleon to the liberal sentiment in France do not wholly satisfy its leaders. The remarkable speech of the Prince Napoleon, made in the Senate a few days since, attracts universal attention for its advanced democratic ideas. Notwithstanding the prompt protests of the Ministry, the opinion gains strength that this speech was prompted, or that its declarations were concurred in by the Emperor himself, whose failing health, conspiring with his fears as with his dynastic hopes, is doing more for popular liberty and an essentially constitutional government than France has ever realized before.

A deluge may not come after his Empire, but Napoleon, dying, must leave a regency to maintain his son upon the throne, or a revolution in the interests of a further democratic advance. The alternative is inevitable, and, as such, it is the judgment of Europe that he has accepted it, and thus proposes to disarm any national repugnance to the continuance of his dynasty. There is reason for his fears. France is still substantially a despotism, alleviated for the first time by the concessions of the present Senatus Consultum, which, far as they may go, do not go far enough to place France among the really constitutional governments of Europe. She stands with Russia,—two mighty barriers to the universal recognition of popular rights on the Continent of Europe. Every other power but these, between the four seas by which the continent is bounded, rests to-day upon the broad foundation of the rights of the populations to a share in the government themselves. Prussia, Austria, Italy, the States of the North, have become thoroughly Constitutional, and last comes Spain, where despotism was last year overthrown forever, and popular liberty has won the clearest of its triumphs. Alone in the West of Europe, Napoleon has hitherto maintained personal government, an absolutely arbitrary authority in fact, over forty millions of French people. How long shall this polity be preserved, with liberal ideas, liberally administered, pressing in on every border? This is Napoleon's problem, and his solution unfolds itself. Events are not distant which will thoroughly test the wise sufficiency of his precautions to avert the crash of an empire.

* No notice yet filed at Washington.

This list specifies twenty States as having acted favorably on the proposition, two of them being Indiana, the doubt as to which is known to our readers, and Rhode Island, which has given to it the assent of but one branch of her Legislature. This leaves eighteen States, as the exact number which have formally ratified. The list of the Times thus corresponds literally with our own statement on the 12th ult. One of these eighteen, New York, has ratified; her Democratic Governor refuses to certify it, but the proper evidence is quite certain to reach the Department. We think both branches of the Ohio Legislature rejected the Article.

Ten more States are required. For these we must look to Virginia, Texas, Mississippi, Vermont, Rhode Island, Alabama, Minnesota, Iowa, (8) all certain to do so, and to Nebraska, (1) which is relied on with much confidence, and to Ohio, Oregon and Tennessee, (3) where we must take our chances. If Indiana is counted as already in, the Article needs but nine more States; if her present action, which is not yet certified, be held insufficient, she must be added to the list of undecided States.

Rhode Island will complete her approval in November. The Minnesota Legislature will sit next January. That of Alabama meets next November by adjournment, and it has a Republican majority in both branches. The Iowa Legislature meets in January; that of Vermont in October.

The opposition, if triumphant in any elections, prior to the first proclamation of the Article as adopted, in States which have already ratified, threaten to withdraw the certificates of assent. We hear this menace in Pennsylvania and elsewhere. In New York, they claim the right of withdrawing the assent which has not been certified. They will everywhere interpose every obstacle which the delay suggests and their partisan opportunities shall permit. But the Federal precedents recognize no such withdrawal as legal; the certificate, once filed, becomes a part of the national archives, and cannot be withdrawn.

THE Lehigh Register brings the following significant testimony:

In conversation with a prominent and influential Democrat, residing at Pittsburgh, we learned that the throwing overboard of General Cass has created much dissatisfaction among the Allegheny county Democrats. He said had Cass been nominated his election would have been a certainty, but the casting aside of good and able men merely for the purpose of nominating a man of great wealth will be resented as an outrage upon the hard working and rising men of the party. There will be a large Republican gain in the West. Here in Lehigh we can speak from our own knowledge. No more unpopular choice could have been made than that of Asa Packer for the Gubernatorial nomination. That can be relied upon, while in the Republican party we have yet to hear of a single dissenting voice.

THE Act of March 18, '69, provides:

That in order to remove any doubts as to the purpose of the Government to discharge all its obligations to the public creditors, and to settle conflicting questions and interpretations of the law, by virtue of which such obligations have been contracted, it is hereby provided and declared that the faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment in coin, or its equivalent, of all the obligations of the United States not bearing interest known as United States notes. And the United States also solemnly pledges its faith to make provision, at the earliest practicable period, for the redemption of the United States notes in coin.

OF the earnest movement to "lock up" large amounts of gold in New York, a dispatch says:

There is no calculating the mischief which these unscrupulous speculators may work, if they persist in engineering another artificially tight money market, just as the autumn trade is beginning and the country is calling for additional means to move the crops.

LETTER FROM KANSAS.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW PERRY, Kansas, Aug. 28, 1869.

In some visits to Leavenworth, made within a few days, I was surprised at the extent and business activity of the young and vigorous city. Its population now exceeds 30,000, and its business aggregates many millions. The surrounding country is rich in soil, exceedingly beautiful in aspect, and well improved.

Kansas City, by being the first to get a railroad bridge across the Missouri, seemed for a while to be in a fair way to carry off from Leavenworth the commercial supremacy of this State; but the people of Leavenworth have aroused themselves from their temporary lethargy, and are now vigorously at work at a bridge of their own, which will, in less than a year, put them in connection with all the railways east of that river and of the Mississippi, while at the same time they are building lines of railway north, west and south, so that soon that city will have direct access by rail to almost every part of Kansas. The Leavenworth, Lawrence and Galveston road is now completed to Ottawa, thirty miles south of Lawrence, and will not be likely to stop till it reaches the Gulf at Galveston. They have had for several years a direct connection with St. Louis through the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and in a few days they are to celebrate the opening of their new road to Atchison. Another road is under way from Leavenworth to Topeka, which will run through one of the most beautiful and productive regions in the State, passing along in a south-west direction, about five miles north-west of where I am now writing.

Lawrence, too, is putting forth new and vigorous efforts to maintain her position in this cluster of rival cities, and I believe she will be successful. From a town called Pleasant Hill, on the Missouri Pacific Road, in Missouri, about thirty-seven miles South-east of Kansas City, a railroad is being rapidly constructed direct to Lawrence, which will leave Kansas City nearly twenty miles to the North. When that is done—which will be early in 1870, if not during the present year—freight will be transported from St. Louis to Lawrence at the same rates as to Kansas City; and as that road runs through a magnificent and well settled country, and as Lawrence is the most eligible point from which to project lines of road to the South and South-west, the future of that city looks exceedingly auspicious.

Last week my wife and I visited Kansas City. She used to think that in my descriptions of Kansas I suffered my enthusiasm to run away with my judgment; but when we made that trip together she frankly acknowledged that all I said was sober verity, and quite true enough. I found that brisk little city—easily made beautiful by its pretty and easily wrought stone—considerably improved since I was there a year ago. It is destined to be a business centre of considerable importance. The new railroad from that point on the Kansas Pacific road to and down the Neosho Valley in a south-east direction is being constructed at the rate of a mile a day. Junction City is one hundred and thirty-eight miles west of Kansas city, and three miles west of Fort Riley. That such work should be going on away out there where the savages have just ceased disputing possession with the pioneer settlers, attests the wonderful rapidity with which this country is advancing in wealth and importance.

THE CROPS.

Never have I seen such corn as is growing and ripening here now. The rains were heavy and long-continued; but this rolling surface and sandy soil sheds and absorbs water so rapidly that the heavy rains, so far from damaging the crops, gave them unusual growth. I have walked through some fields so covered with thick, broad-bladed, dark-colored stalks, twelve to fifteen feet high, that it was gloomy at mid day, while the sun shone with a brilliancy only known away out here. There is a farmer near Leavenworth who offered to bet that he will gather three thousand bushels of shelled corn off a field of twenty acres, which would be an average of 150 bushels to the acre. He is probably over sanguine, but 60, 70, 80 bushels will be common.

The wheat crop was very good, although some trouble was experienced in harvest from the frequent heavy showers. I have been too busy to gather facts; but while at Junction City I saw Mr. A. W. Collen, whose farm adjoins the city, who had just finished threshing the product of twenty-three acres of fall wheat, which averaged forty-seven bushels to the acre.

Fruit, where there are bearing trees, is abundant and excellent. Apples are much "fairer" here than in the eastern States. This I attribute to the greater purity of the atmosphere, together with the almost constant lively breezes. Peaches are not so abundant as they were last year, but the quality is very fine. Grapes are plenty and good. The culture of this fruit will soon be one of the most important in this country, and the manufacture of wine a large and remunerative business.

I have been more on the upland prairies of Kansas this summer than ever before, and I confess they far exceed in fertility and productiveness my former impressions. They are not so rich as the bottom lands, but they are better adapted to wheat; and some of the finest fields of corn I have seen were on high prairie ground. Fruit succeeds better, water is better, and what is better than all, health is better, for the air is purer. Transportation facilities being equal, I would rather have upland than bottom land, acre for acre.

For some years past this State was plagued to some degree with grasshoppers. Last year they were pretty numerous, and many farmers deferred sowing their wheat until they would pass away, lest they might devour the young plants. Others disregarded them and sowed early, and in so doing they acted wisely, for the grasshoppers did the grain little or no injury, and the product was greatly better than that which was sowed late. So far this year there are none. Seed time here extends from the first of September to the first of December; but the earlier the better.

The rich bottom lands along the Kansas and its tributaries are admirably adapted to the culture of hemp, and some farmers are beginning to turn their attention to it. Broom corn flourishes admirably, and I know of no place where the manufacture of brooms could be prosecuted at greater profit, for great numbers are brought from the East and sold at high rates.

Men skilled in the manufacture of cheese ought to come out here. In a former letter I spoke of the success of Mr. D. B. Long, of Ellsworth county, a Western Reserve dairyman, in this business; but all these splendid pastures are equally good. In fact there must and will be greater diversity of products and industries here than there are yet. But the country is still in its infancy, and people generally push into those things which are more immediately available, and which require the least capital. Hence corn and potatoes are grown to excess. In the Southern part of the State stock raising is the most preferable; but it is a lazy business, and as population crowds in it will cease to be as profitable as it is at present, and then, and not till then, will that part of the country advance, like the North and East, in wealth and civilization.

Washington Items.

With regard to the installation of Gov. Walker, of Virginia, it is believed that it will be postponed for some time. It has been whispered that Gov. Wells would resign, but no credit need be attached to the rumor.

President Grant recently assured a Kentucky Radical Republican that he had not made all the removals from office he intended to make, and that in future appointments he intended to recognize the claims of Union soldiers, and give them preference, but that all his appointments should be good, sound Republicans.

THE great railway bridge over the Rhine, near the village of Hamm, a little town above Dusseldorf, is progressing rapidly, and will probably be completed before the end of November. The structure is to consist of four arches, the upper part of which will be made of iron. The iron work of each will weigh 14,000 cwts. The bridge is united to the main line on the left by a viaduct consisting of fifteen stone arches, but this does not immediately join the bridge, being separated from it by a revolving draw-bridge, so that the line can be rendered impassable at any moment. The first arch of the great bridge is already completed, and on the 15th ultimo the workmen engaged in the undertaking celebrated their success.

GENERAL CANBY is preparing a report of the election and condition of Virginia, politically, socially and morally, in which it is said he will exhibit a state of affairs that will be very prejudicial to the reconstruction of the State, showing that more violence, abuse and proscription have been exhibited by the people of the State than ever before.

The Allegheny Valley Railroad Company are about to erect a new and handsome passenger and freight depot for their road in Venango City, near the new bridge across the river. It will be thirty by ninety-four feet in size, covered with a projecting slate roof, and nicely finished throughout. The station office of the Company will also be in the building.

Political Items

THE attack upon Mr. Belmont by the New York Tammanyites is a fine commentary on the loud Democratic professions of friendship to the Jews.

SINCE Rosecrans retired from the Democratic platform, the Pennsylvania Democrats are felicitating themselves at their escape from Hancock, who, had he accepted their nomination, would have been sure to show he was ashamed of their record.

IT is currently reported, though the report lacks confirmation, that the working men of the coal regions will oppose the election of Asa Packer, on the grounds that he is a "Bloated Bondholder;" that he is a railroad monopolist; that he is in favor of high rates of transportation on his railroad, without being willing to increase, proportionally, the wages of labor; that he was a rebel sympathiser throughout the late Rebellion; and because he is the exponent of that aristocratic Democracy of the school of Jefferson Davis, which does not believe in the capability of the people to govern themselves. For these and many other reasons, it is confidentially asserted that our laboring men will not vote for him.

ASA PACKER showed himself a friend of the workingmen from 1843 to 1848, when he paid his employes in Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's script at par and redeemed it at a discount of 40 per cent. The script was useless to laboring men. They could not buy anything with it, and they were compelled to submit to the shave in order to keep starvation from their doors. Of course, Democratic newspapers will contend that in this, as in everything else Asa Packer has done, he was benefiting the poor man, because as "money is the root of all evil," he was doing them a service by giving them just enough to keep body and soul together and putting the 40 per cent. into that little private fund of his which has made him the Democratic nominee for Governor.

YOU will also recollect how last year the Democracy went to pieces on account of the different constructions given to the New York platform: how General Blair's demoralizing speech, and the not less revolutionary scheme of General Wade Hampton, foiled the efforts of all conservative men, and finally culminated in the demand of the New York World for a change in the national ticket on the very eve of the Presidential election. The conflict between leading Democrats, and between the Democratic platforms of the party, North and South, is greater to-day than it was a year ago; and yet they hope to elect Judge Packer Governor of Pennsylvania in the midst of this confusion worse confounded.

THE Democracy in Philadelphia is in a bad way, at least that portion of it under the control of the prize ring referee, Billy McMullin. Packer, as McMullin claims, owes his nomination to him and his followers, and the one hundred thousand dollars sop thrown out at the State Convention having been spent some time ago, they are getting up a revolt because their candidate does not "shell out" as he promised. Packer, it is reported, has concluded to act himself as treasurer of the campaign fund, not deeming it proper to place his funds in the hands of the State Committee to be distributed among a few. McMullin, we are informed, has well nigh exhausted all his "bummers" in the harness and their impatience at Packer's delay in opening his money-bags is assuming an alarming aspect.

A REGULAR HABIT OF BODY

Is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of Intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs and one of its most common results is CONSTIPATION. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants—such as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminated blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory, and general debility.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant, or a tonic, or an anti-bilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It tends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, with our steel engraved revenue stamp over the cork, is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Sept. 4, 1869.

The excitement in the gold market continues. The opening price of Saturday was 137¾, from which, under various rumors from Washington, the market declined to 135⅝, and after 4 o'clock, P. M. advanced again to 137¼. The course of market next week will depend on the doings of the Treasury Department, since the cliques have it all in their power to put up the price if they see fit, having now the full control of all the gold held by banks and in the open market. The short interest in the market is enormous, and importers are holding off to buy exchange or gold at present prices. The consequence is that exchange, which is offered at 8¼ for 60 day bills, cannot be placed at all, and although a net profit of 2 per cent remains on bonds shipped to Europe, yet the impossibility of selling exchange must soon stop shipping bonds, or gold must yield so importers will buy.

Government bonds are reported daily as more appreciating in value, and advancing, yet the fluctuations for new bonds remain between 120⅞ to 121⅛. The number of sellers for bonds is daily increasing, and should gold decline, anything what is expected, a heavy decline in bonds must follow. If the Government is actually moving in the direction toward specie payments, gold should decline and bonds would follow without depreciating their value.

Stocks are steadily declining, with the exception of a few clique stocks. The market suffers under the apprehension of a tight money market at the end of this month.

At present money is easy yet in our local market, the demand being limited. Business quiet.

NEW YORK, September 4, 1869.

Money active at 6@7 per cent. Sterling dull at 8½@8⅝ per cent. The principal centre to-day was the gold room, which was the scene of much excitement. Various rumors were started during the day relative to the action of the Government in increasing the amount of sales of gold next week, which were offset by others that the Secretary of the Treasury will not alter his programme already made public. Efforts to break down the price were made by parties who threw two and a quarter millions of gold on the market, which forced a decline, but the market again rallied, closing at 137@137¼. The rates paid for carrying till Monday were 3, 2, 5 and 6 per cent.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Sept. 4, 1869.

The most important feature in commercial circles this week, is the sudden and unexpected advance in wheat and flour, both in New York and Chicago, under the influence of the foreign news. There is little or no change in either flour or grain in this market, however, which may be accounted for in the fact that dealers here do not go off half cocked, as they do in Chicago, and as a consequence there is less fluctuation in prices here than there. There is scarcely anything coming from Chicago to this market, excepting whisky; for several years past Pittsburgh has drawn heavily on that place for flour, but now our dealers have been obliged to buy nearer home, and this they are doing to a much better advantage than they could in Chicago.

The Bradford-Hayes Expedition to the Artic Sea--Letter from Bradford, the Artist.

The New York Post of Wednesday evening publishes extracts from a letter received from Mr. Wm. Bradford, the famous marine painter, who is accompanying Dr. Hayes on the voyage to the Arctic regions. Mr. Bradford writes under date of "Steamship Panther, Disko, South Greenland, July 27th," as follows:

"We arrived here and found a vessel which sails to-morrow for Philadelphia, loaded with kryolite from the famous mines, which opportunity I avail myself of to send a few lines. Since leaving St. Johns we have had fine weather most of the time. We made Cape Desolation after a week's run from St. Johns. There we lay three days, and steamed thence to Julienshab, the most southern settlement of any importance in Greenland. There Dr. Hayes and myself took an Omeak, or Esquimaux woman's boat, and visited the ruins at the old cathedral at Krakortok, built about eight hundred and fifty years ago by the Northmen. This, with other ruins, which were surrounded by a wall, were photographed, and the Doctor made a careful survey of the whole, and he will no doubt publish some account of these rarely visited and very wonderful ruins. The old cathedral or church is in a good state of preservation; the foundations and doorways are perfect. The walls are of immense thickness, which accounts for their standing so long. One gable is firm and still eighteen feet high, but the other is crumbling away, and the arched window in it will soon fall.

"From Krakortok we returned to Julienshab, and thence to a larger glacier which pours down into a fiord to the north and west.

"This was the most magnificent sight I have ever beheld. It was more grand and imposing than I could have dreamed of; and the immensity of ice which covers the interior of Greenland and discharges into the sea, creating hundreds and thousands of icebergs, is something which cannot be described in words. The photographers have been very busy, and, with upwards of forty different views, I trust to be able, on my return, to give you something like a correct impression of what seems to me one of the most wonderful works of nature.

"Further north we shall no doubt have numerous opportunities of visiting other glaciers, and of multiplying our materials for the illustration of this grand and picturesque Arctic scenery. It greatly exceeds all my previous expectations. The mountains are more rugged and lofty, the glaciers are more extensive, and the great Mer de Grace, which they call here the Eisblinkin, is more suggestive of vast extent and solitude than anything that I had ever thought possible in nature; and when the power displayed in the glacier flow and the discharge of an iceberg is most surprising.

"With the icebergs the coast is everywhere lined. The sea is dotted with these great white floating islands, which are often from one to three hundred feet high. In a single view I have seen many hundreds, spread before me on the waters, leading the eye away into extreme distance beyond anything I have ever seen. We were fortunate enough to witness seven bergs discharge in the manner first described, I believe, by Dr. Hayes, and although we were at one time exposed to some danger, and lost a part of our photographic materials by the wave which rolled thirty feet high upon the rocks, yet all of the party escaped without personal accident.

"The photographic party heard the crash and saw the wave coming in time to climb the rocks, and thus escape being washed into the sea, meeting with no further mishap than a good ducking from the crest of the sea. It was a narrow and providential escape. I was on the vessel at the time, making a study in oil of the glacier front, which is two hundred feet high, and had we been nearer to the shore we should have been, in all probability, dashed to pieces. We were not long in getting under headway, and, although Dr. Hays seemed hardened by experience, and appears to regard a glacier as an amiable kind of friend, yet I think the inexperienced are disposed to hold a Greenland glacier hereafter at a more respectful distance.

"From here we shall proceed north into Melville bay, which I trust the experience of Dr. Hayes will enable us to pass through without risk, and which will give me the opportunity of obtaining all the artistic material I now require to complete my collection of views and studies of this Arctic world of everlasting ice and rugged mountains. We shall return as early in tenth month month as possible. Thy friend,

"WILLIAM BRADFORD."

Terrible Case of Hydrophobia.

The following paragraph appears in the French papers: "On the 3d inst., one Jean Lombard, eighteen years of age, a farm hand at Champforguial, near Chalons, was attacked with hydrophobia, and attempted to bite several persons, and succeeded in biting a dog. He then went home to his friends at Sassenay. Information was given to the police. On their arrival they found Lombard at the door of his father's house. He was foaming at the mouth, and inspired such terror that no one dared go near him.

"The presence of the police having reassured the father and a few neighbors, they coaxed him into a room, locked it, and carefully barred all the issues. Lombard, however, made no attempt to escape, but asked for some white wine, which was let down to him through the roof. One of his friends having offered to go and attend him, he replied: 'You had better not. I shall bite you.' He died at three o'clock in the morning, after a night of torture. Feeling that he was dying, he requested the cure to be sent to him. The cure came, and administered the consolations of religion through a hole in the window. Lombard had been bitten six months ago, but had not had the wound cauterized."

THE Christmas book in England this year will be eight of the choicest poems of Thomas Hood, illustrated by Gustave Dore. Some of these illustrations are exquisite, especially the "Song of the Shirt," where the poor worker in her garret is plying the busy needle upon that which is both a shroud and a shirt. The "Bridge of Sighs," the "Dream of Eugene Aram," "Ruth," the "Lady's Dream," the "Haunted House," "Queen Mab," and the "Ode to Melancholy," are the other pieces.

Who Owns Him?

I heard a capital story with regard to the control obtained over the revenue officers—storekeepers, I believe—by the distiller in whose establishment they are placed. The story comes to me from one who knows, and is an apt illustration of the recent "penny wise and pound foolish" policy which has cut down the pay of assistant assessors and other officials. A supervisor in New York recently removed one of these officers from one distillery to another. Perhaps he suspected collusion, but, if so, said nothing. The distiller was a German, we'll call him Mr. Schmidt. He waited on the Supervisor and began an interesting conversation with—

"Vat for you move, Mr. Shones? You tinks I own him, eh? Suppose I does, how's you going to help it? I own the 'tother man you sends," &c.

"Quite likely," was the Supervisor's reply; but then i'll move him."

"Vell, you can't help it. I own them all. Does you vant to know how it's done? Vell, I tells you. Saturday's come I say to Shones, 'You got a wife, eh? Live in a tenement house?' He says 'Yes.' I says, 'Does you ever goes to de Park and take de family for a drive? Never take the wife to opera, eh?' He says, 'No.' 'Like to,' I says. 'Yes,' he says. 'Well,' I says, 'take that letter to your vife.' He goes home and says, 'Vife, here's a letter a shentleman sends you.' She wonders what it is, opens it, and there's von, two, three, six von hundred dollar greenbacks—all new. They never see so much money before. They go to the Park and buy lot of tings for children. You pay him four dollars a day. I give him six hundred a week, Who owns him—you or me? How are you going to help? I do not say anything to him. I only send de envelope to his vife. He likes to own horse and buggy, house of his own and enjoy himself. How ean you prevent it?

Mr. Schmidt was frank, for the foregoing is substantially true. Can the Government expect to be faithfully served in important positions of trust when it pays insufficient wages and offers no career or security of position in honesty and integrity?

The Colliery Explosion in Saxony.

The North German Correspondent says: The opinion that the unfortunate miners in the Burg colliery were all immediately killed by the explosion proves incorrect. In the note-book of the miner Bahr the following entry has been found: "This is the last place where we have taken refuge. I have given up all hope, because the ventilation in the Segengottes-shaft and the Hoffnungs-shaft has been destroyed in three separate places. May God take myself, and my relations and dear friends who must die with me, as well as our families, under his protection. Ernst Bahr." In the Hoffnungs-shaft too the following words have been found: "Janetz died. Richter left his family to God." And again: "Farewell, dear wife! farewell, dear children! May God keep you. Gottlieb Heimann." And lastly: "Farewell, dear wife and children! I did not think it would end so. Obermann." One of the name of Schmidt had pinned a paper with the following words to the breast of his blouse: "My dear relations, while seeing death before me I remember you, Farewell till we meet again in happiness. The rest I must leave to you. Between 9 and 10 o'clock." On the other side stood the words: "Dear wife, take good care of Mary. In a book in the bed room you will find a thaler. Farewell, dear mother and sisters, till we meet again." All must have been over about 10 o'block on the 2d instant. On the 12th, 236 bodies had been recovered. By far the greater part must have died suddenly. The great grave was then closed, as some time will probably elapse before the rest are recovered, on account of the masses of earth that obstruct the way. The rest will be buried separately.

Lunar Heat.

Lord Rosse has been measuring, says Once a Week, the heat that comes to us from the moon. Using one of his great reflecting telescopes as a burning mirror, he has condensed the moon's rays upon one of the most delicate of heat gaugers—a thermo pile. Without being able to determine by what fraction of a Fahrenheit's degree the lunar warmth increases the temperature of the terrestrial atmosphere, he has found, as an approximation, that the radiation from the moon is about the ninety-thousandth part of that from the sun. He conceives that the variation of heat from one satellite follows the same law as that of its light, viz., that we have most warmth from the full moon, and least from the nearly new. By comparison with the terrestrial source of heat, Lord Rosse estimates the actual temperature of the moon's surface at lunar mid-day to be about five hundred degrees Fahrenheit. This scorching results frpm the slow rotation of the moon which makes its day equal to our month, and from the absence of any atmosphere to screen the lunar world. Years ago, Sir John Herschel, who has more than once proved himself a prophet by his sagacious inferences, remarked that "the surface of the full moon exposed to us must necessarily be very much heated, possibly to a degree much exceeding that of boiling water." Fontanelle and his followers to the contrary notwithstanding, the moon can be no place for living beings, unless they are salamanders.

The Cuban Question.

A Washington dispatch says: It is ascertained that when Spain refused to entertain the propositions made through Minister Sickles and Mr. Forbes, it made no official counter propositions, as reported.

Mr. Forbes writes, however, that he believes that Spain would consider and treat upon the following basis:

First—The Cubans to lay down their arms.

Second—After peace is restored the Cubans to vote upon the question of their own independence.

Third—If at such an election they vote to sever their connection with Spain, then a sale of Spanish property in Cuba is to be made to the Cubans by Spain.

Fourth—The United States to guaranty the amount of money due Spain from Cuba, resulting from such a sale.

These propositions are unofficial, but sent by Mr. Forbes to be considered by the United States authorities, but as yet they have not been acted upon. On the other hand, a protest, signed by Mr. Vallente, and other leading Cubans, against mediatoin by the United States, is freely circulated here. In this document the Cubans say they cannot accept the policy represented by Mr. Lemus, which rests upon mediation by the United States.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 325 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

PENNIMAN, REED & CO.

The Allegheny Public Schools open to-day.

Allegheny Councils meet next Thursday night.

Allegheny was unusually quiet Saturday night.

The Corner stone of the new High School building will be laid on the afternoon of September 30.

Duncan.—G. W. Roberts, Jr., has been appointed Postmaster at this office, vice R. L. McQuestion, resigned.

Troy Hill brightened up a little yesterday under the genial influence of the day, although everything was quiet enough.

The Fifth Ward, Allegheny, public school house, is said to be the best edifice for the purpose in the Union. It has been visited by numbers of persons interested in educational matters.

A Regular monthly meeting of the Allegheny Board of School Controllers, will be held to-morrow evening, at seven and a half o'clock, in the Common Council Chamber, city building.

Thanks to Gen. Negley for a magnificent boquet! Its rare beauty seems to transfer one of the conspicuous attractions of Shady Side to the dingy and contracted imprisonment of the city.

Forestalling.—Saturday Mrs. Snyder was brought before Alderman Humburt, charged by officer Messner with forestalling the market. She was discharged upon payment of the usual fine and costs.

Fell in a Fit.—Saturday afternoon about three o'clock a peddler whose name was not known, fell in a fit at the corner of Fifth avenue and Market alley. He recovered after a short time and was able to walk to his home.

Arrested.—Chief Hague received a telegram from officer Anderson, at Enon, announcing the arrest at that place yesterday morning of Thomas Sullivan, the man who attempted to kill Barney Duffy in West Pittsburgh, Friday.

Run Over.—Saturday evening between seven and eight o'clock a little girl about six years of age, residing on Liberty street, near the Pennsylvania railroad round house, was run over by a buggy and severely though not seriously injured.

I. O. O. F.—A new Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, to be known as W. H. Devore Lodge, No. 676, will be organized at Wilkinsburg, Monday evening, the 13th inst. The same evening the new Odd Fellows' Hall at that place will be dedicated.

Correction.—Our item published on Saturday, in reference to Mr. Charles B. Taylor's being without a home or appropriate lodging place, we have since been informed is an entire misrepresentation of the facts, and calculated to do very great injustice to an old citizen of our city.

Robbery on Liberty Street.—Saturday morning before daylight Dr. Keyser's drug store, on Liberty street, was entered and robbed of a lot of blacking brushes. The thieves effected an entrance from an alley in the rear. They also carried off the keys of the money drawer and back door.

The Brownsville Boats have stopped running between Pittsburgh and Port Perry in consequence of the repairs being made on Lock No. 2. Freights and passengers will be transported between these points by the Connellsville Railroad Company, whose trains will make regular connections with the boats.

Owing to the obstruction of the street in front of the Second Ward Allegheny School House, caused by the construction of a new sewer, the school will not open until Wednesday morning. The teachers and directors will hold a meeting in the Principal's room this morning to arrange matters for the coming term.

Mayor's Office.—There were twenty-eight unfortunates, arraigned at the Mayor's Morning Court yesterday, eleven of whom were charged with drunkeness; sixteen with disorderly conduct, and one for vagrancy. They were disposed of as follows: Nineteen paid fines, eight were committed and one was discharged.

The Humboldt Centennial.—The Finance Committee of the Humboldt Centennial Association collected, on Friday last, nearly two thousand dollars for the monument fund. It is to be hoped that the citizens will generously contribute to this praiseworthy object, and that the necessary sum of six thousand dollars will be speedily forthcoming.

Not Slow.—Mary Ann Slow, a colored resident of the Sixth ward, was before Alderman Neeper Saturday on complaint of Julia Ann Read, who alleged that Mary Ann had struck her a vicious blow across the eye with a stick. Such a breach of the peace was not relished by Julia. After a hearing, the case was compromised, the costs being divided.

Pitt Building and Loan Association.—This enterprising and reliable company will hold an election next Tuesday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing term. They have also a few shares of stock not yet disposed of, and parties wishing to invest in stock that is sure to return them a handsome profit would do well to attend the meeting.

A Good Appointment.—Mr. John H. Stuart, of the firm of Joseph Woodwell & Co., of this city, has, we are pleased to learn, received the appointment of Consul to Turk's Island, West Indies. Mr. S. is a gentleman of high attainments and large experience, which fally qualify him for the duties of the appointment. It would have been difficult to make a better selection.

It will be interesting to the ladies of both cities to know that Miss Bartholomew, an experienced and skilful artist, is prepared at her rooms, No. 65 Federal street, Allegheny, to execute, promptly, orders for Wigs, Braids and other hair work; and also for ladios hair dressing at her rooms or their residences. Miss Bartholomew studies the styles, and does her work in conformity with the latest fashions. Her industry and ingenuity should be rewarded by a liberal patronage.

Still Living.—Barney Duffy, the man who was cut by Thomas Sullivan, in the affray in West Pittsburgh, Friday afternoon, is still living and may probably recover.

Failed.—An attempt was made by thieves before daylight Saturday morning to enter Kennedy's saloon on Smithfield street. The operators attempted to force open a door in the rear, but a showcase which had been placed against it, foiled them in their efforts. They succeeded in breaking the glass in the case, and stopped there, doubtless frightened off by the noise.

Boy Drowned.—David Dorer, son of Crispin Dorer, a resident of Carson street, Birmingham, was accidentally drowned in the Monongahela river yesterday. The boy, who was about nine years old, started with an elder brother to Sunday School about one o'clock, and at three o'clock was carried home dead. He was playing on a flat and fell in the water, and before assistance could reach him was drowned.

Breaking Things.—Samuel Glass was out "breaking things" on Saturday night, and passing down Webster avenue about seven o'clock, he fell over a table in front of Hatch's furniture store. The table was broken and Mr. Hatch requested Samuel to pay for it, which he declined to do, and threatened to break Hatch's head. An officer was called, who took Samuel in charge and conducted him to the lock-up. He was required to pay a fine of $5 and costs for breaking the law.

Criminals.—There are forty-nine cases on the jail calender to be tried at the present term of the Quarter Session Court which begins to-day. The following is a summary of the offenses as charged: Rape 4; child murder 1; assault 1; horse stealing 1; larceny 20; larceny by bailee 1; felonious assault and battery 3, burglary 2; surety of the peace 4; wife desertion 3; assault and battery with intent to commit rape 1; assault and battery 3; false pretense 2; bigamy 1; aggravated assault and battery 1; murder 1. Total 49.

Caught Again.—"Snibbs" alias Wm. Arnold, whose reputation for interfering with the property of others is well known in this community, appears to be in a bad streak of luck. "Snibbs" has managed for some time past to keep clear of the "nabbs" until a few weeks since, when he was picked up and sent to Claremont for thirty days. The place did not suit his refined and delicate taste, however, and he left before his allotted time had expired, coming back to the city. Saturday evening he was arrested again by officer Bell and brought to the lock-up, where he will remain. He will probably get ninety days this time, as Chief Hague is desirous of having him out of the city at present.

Home Again.

James McAuley, Esq., President of the Select branch of the City Council, and President of the Iron City National Bank, has returned home after quite an extensive tour in search of health. We are glad to note that he has fully recuperated, and that he is in his customary vigor and in good trim for undergoing the hard work he so cheerfully taxes himself with for the good of the city. No gentleman in either branch of Council has a better record than Mr. McAuley, and certainly none are more respected and esteemed by all classes of citizens.

Base Ball.

Last Saturday afternoon the weather at last proved favorable, and the long talked of match between the Atlantic and Olympic clubs, came off at Union Park. There were a number of spectators present, and the game proved to be one of the most exciting and closely contested since the opening of the season. The fielding of the Atlantics was especially good, while the Olympics seemed to have the advantage at the bat. The Olympics eventually won the game, the score standing at the close 25 to 23, eight innings only being played. Carothers, of the Alleuheny club, acted as umpire. This is the first of the games to be played between these clubs for the championship of Western Pennsylvania.

Criminal Court.

The September term of the Quarter Sessions Court for Allegheny county commences to-day, and as there is a large amount of business to do it will probably be a lengthy term. The Magistrates throughout the county have generally been prompt in making their returns, and for the past ten days Assistant District Attorney Flack has been extremely busy preparing bills for the Grand Jury. There are several cases in the higher grades of crime, among which is the Point homidide case, and as will be seen from our summary of the jail calendar, several cases for burglary, rape and felonious assault and battery. Cases remaining over from last term will be taken up first and disposed of, while the Grand Jury is preparing the new business.

An Old Offender.

Saturday night, about eleven o'clock, residents on the upper part of Federal street, Allegheny, were again disturbed by the antics of Robert Anderson, a colored individual, who periodically indulges in tho "flowing bowl," which generally results in his commitment. Saturday Robert had engaged in this pleasant exercise, and coming home rather late in the evening, undertook to increase the bills of mortality by shooting his wife. In attempting this feat he was interfered with by several neighbors, whereupon he became so exceedingly boisterous as to attract the attention of the night watch. His arrest was rather difficult and required three of the officers, who literally carried him to the lock-up. he making night hideous with his unearthly howls as he was borne along. Yesterday morning Robert was fined twenty-five dollars, and in default was comitted to jail for thirty days.

Business Change.

The well known and extensive book and job printing establishment of Messrs. Errett, Anderson & Co., No. 84 Fifth avenue, in GAZETTE buildings, has just changed hands, Messrs. Rev. Dr. S. H. Nesbit, of the Christian Advocate, Jas. A. Moore and Thomas Telford having purchased it, under the firm name of Telford, Moore & Co. The liberal experience, energy and enterprise of these gentlemen is sufficient guarantee that the business will be conducted in such manner as to merit public patronage. The capacity of the office will be enlarged, and the firm will take care that no piece of work will quit their establishment that does not fully sustain its high reputation for taste, neatness, beauty and general excellence. Particular attention will be paid to German work of all descriptions. We bespeak for the new firm an increase of the liberal share of patronage hitherto awarded the outgoing firm.

Aquatic.

The interest in aquatic sports is on the increase, in this city, since the race between Coulter and Hamill, and there is an apparent disposition to conduct all races on principles of fairness and honesty, to which in a great measure this increasing interest may be attributed.

The usual number of races took place on Saturday, principal among which were the race between Kaye and Luther, and a four-oared race between picked crews from the Vigilant and Eagle fire companies.

THE SINGLE SCULL RACE.

The single scull race between Kaye and Luther which took place upon the Allegheny course, for a purse of three hundred dollars, was a very exciting one and was witnessed by a large concourse of people, both banks along the eatire course being lined with spectators. The start was made from the St. Clair street bridge at five o'clock and forty minutes. Kaye took the lead but maintained it only for a short time. Before the Hand street bridge was passed Luther came up with and soon after passed his adversary, which position he kept throughout the race, coming in easy winner in 22:26.

THE FOUR OARED RACE.

The race between the crews of the Vigilant and Eagle fire companies, for a supper, took place at half past five o'clock, over the lower Monongahela course. The race was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, who arpeared highly interested in the result, but there wasn't much money changed hands on the race. The Vigilant boat was manned as follows: Maxwell, (stroke,) Reismeyer, Herbert and Eccles, (bow.) The Eagle crew consisted of Earl, (stroke,) Smithson, Boyer and Andrew Miller, Jr., (bow.) Some time was spent in getting in position, but at length the word was given, and a fair start was made. The boats kept tolerably even for a little while, but the Eagle crew at length pulled ahead. They turned the buoy first, and, on the home stretch, led off at an in increasing distance. On the way home the Vigilant boat ran upon the bar, and had to be litted off and pushed somo distance. By this, of course, much time was lost, and the distance between the two boats considerably increased. An easy victory was ahead of the Eagle boys, however, and they rowed leisurely. The Vigilants pulled vigorously, but came in a long distance behind. The time made by the Eagles was twenty-two minutes. The race was for a supper for twenty-five persons. The supper was served at Schild's Saturday evening, and was a very enjoyable one.

Amuseements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The amusement season at the Opera House opens this evening. The improvements in the establishment have all been completed, the entire building renovated and the old scenery replaced by new and beautiful scenes from Palmer's artistic hand. The Worrel sisters play the opening engagement and to-night "Lalla Rookh" will be presented for its first time in this city. The season promises to be one of the most brilliant we have ever had, as Manager Canning has secured a full company of first class actors, and has also succeeded in effecting engagements with all the principal "stars" in the profession.

The box office will remain open daily between nine and four o'clock for the sale of reserved seats. From present indications the opening to-night will be largely attended.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The "Old Drury," since its opening on Thursday evening has been doing an excellent business. The improvemeuts made during the summer add wonderfully to the comfort and convenience as well as to the appearance of the establishment, and the company as a whole is decidedly the best variety company we have ever had in the city. Mr. Williams has been extremely fortunate in the selection of his company, as the manner in which each individual member is received, fully testifies. The Whiting Sisters and Miss St. Clair are a credit to the profession, and Clara Burton is an old favorite. In fact every member of the company is deserving of special notice, and are favorites in their particular lines of business. The Wednesday and Saturday matinees at this establishment are excellent entertainments, and are intended especially for ladies and children, who cannot attend the evening performances.

Probably Fatal Accident.

Saturday evening, shortly after six o'clock, William Lebzelter, a boy about sixteen years old, received injuries at the railroad crossing, Federal street, Allegheny, which will in all probability result in death. He resides at No. 66 Western avenue, and was returning from work, when a westward bound train was passing over the street. He had been in the habit of jumping on the trains and thus riding part of the way home, and on this occasion attempted to jump on the car next to the last, but unfortunately missed his hold and fell with his left leg lying across the track. The wheels of the car passed over, just below the knee, crushing it to a jelly. He was taken to the office of Dr. Herron, in the vicinity. That physician being absent, Drs. D. N. Rankin, Haselton and Haslett were summoned, and in connection with Dr. Buchanan amputated the leg above the knee, such an operation being found necessary. The injured lad was then conveyed to his residence, where at last accounts he was lying in a precarious condition. He is the eldest son of a widow, and was the chief support of his mother, which makes the accident more distressing.

Brutal Assault.

Saturday evening about ten o'clock Thomas Rogers, a resident of Pipetown, having taken an overdose of whisky, started home, and on reaching the door of his dwelling sat down on the steps. He had been sitting there but a few minutes when a party of young men came by and made an assault upon him, taking from him a bottle of whisky and in the affray broke the man,s leg in two places. Acting Mayor Butler was sent for yesterday morning and took Rogers' information, charging William Lloyd and others with felonious assault and battery. Lloyd was arrested last night and brought to the lock-up where he was held for a hearing.

Stockton Avenue—West End.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The strictness of your correspondents relating to mortar beds, mud holes and wagon stands on the above named avenue, I see, have had some effect. On Saturday several loads of lime and sand were dumped at the mortar beds. The wagons trespass even more than usual, nearly closing the avenue at Federal street, and the unsightly mud hole is considerably amplified. For what are Mayors and police, Street Committees and Street Commissioners commissioned and paid? Must private citizens resort to the courts for redress? Or are these offenses against law and common decency to be longer permitted to grow more and more offensive.

PROMPTER.

Methodist Annual Conference—Pittsburgh District.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Sept. 2, 1866.

The Water Question.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Now that the "Park Speculation" has received its quietus, it is to be hoped that Councils will devote their attention to the necessities of the city.

A permanent supply of good pure water is the pressing, urgent want of the people. The present supply is insufficent and it requires no chemist to prove that it is most impure. But no "half way" measure will supply the want.

And if nothing better can be found than the proposed location of "the works" a short distance above Negley's Run, we may as well content ourselves with what we now have; increasing the the capacity of the present works, and save taxation. Do not our Councilmen know that an "Acid Works," a short distance above the proposed location, pours its refuse into the river with such effect that hempen cables kept in the water in its vicinity are rotted or eaten out in a few weeks? The "works" and drainage at Natrona poison the river at that point, and it gets fouler all the way down. We doubt if a proper location can be obtained short of the Youghiogheny or Kiskiminetas rivers. Pure water we must have, at whatever cost, and a liberal expenditure now is the best economy.

CITIZENS.

Pretty Women.—A comparatively few Ladies monopolize the Beauty as well as the attention of Society. This ought not to be so, but it is; and will be while men are foolish, and single out pretty faces for companions.

This can all be changed by using Hagan's Magnolia Balm, which gives the Bloom of Youth and a Refined sparkling Beauty to the Complexion, pleasing, powerful, and natural.

No Lady need complain of a red, tanned, freckeled or rustic Complexion who will invest 75 cents in Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its effects are truly wonderful.

Temperance and Reform—Address to Voters.

To the Voters of Allegheny County:—

FELLOW CITIZENS: Some time ago a Temperance and Reform Convention was convened in the Court House, in the city of Pittsburgh, which unanimously nominated Isaiah Dickey, Esq., for the office of County Commissioner, to be voted for at the coming October election. That Convention was not political in its character, but was composed of men who felt that something must be done, if possible, to check the ravages of intemperance among us. And as the execution of the license law has been placed in the hands of our County Commissioners, and as we felt that those already filling that office have not carried out that law in its spirit and intention, and as we were not persuaded that any condidate presented by either of the political parties would carry out its provisions so as to improve this state of things, we were constrained as law-abiding citizens to nominate a man who is known to be honest and reputable in life. It is proper to say that Mr. Dickey did not and does not seek the office, but only consents to the use of his name in the hope that if elected he may be instrumental in having our existing license law faithfully and fully executed. It is in no sense the aim of the present movement to do away with the existing law; we recognize it as binding until annulled by the law making power of the State. But we are persuaded that it has not been properly executed. We moreover feel that it would be to the interest of men who vend ardent spirits under the authority of a license to vote for Mr. Dickey, for while he will not place himself in the attitude that no licenses shall be given while the law continues, he will see that the cost of procuring a license shall not be exorbitant. Hence, if placed in the Board of Commissioners, we feel that it will be a decided benefit to all concerned.

Mr. Dickey is not before you as a politician, but as an independent temperance candidate, pledged to faithfully execute all laws that now exist or may exist for the term of three years. He is not thrust upon your attention with any design to break up old political organizations, but we are determined to let it be understood that we will no longer blindly follow the lead of any political ring. As lovers of good order, as those profoundly interested in the well being of the county, we demand that men of character shall be nominated for office, else we will not support them. And are we not right in this? Is it not high time that something should be done in this direction? Might not the election of Mr. Dickey be of incalculable benefit in the hereafter of our political history as a county? Therefore, fellow citizens, convinced that we have done right, we earnestly appeal to you, no matter to what party you belong, to aid us in the election of Mr. Dickey. We ask you to seriously consider the matter and give us your influence and votes in the promotion of a man to office whose integrity is undoubted. We feel that you owe it to yourselves and families to at least make the trial. The woes of intemperance that have become so widespread in this community demand that something should be done, and that promptly, lest they be still more augmented and become quite universal. It is worth while sometimes to break off from party for the sake of a specific object that is good, and in this case we feel that to do so would be honorable, right and praiseworthy. With us there is no scramble for the spoils of office, but an earnest and determined resolution to secure reform.

By order of the Ex. Committee.

JOHN B. CLARK, Chairman.

Banquet at St. Johns, N. B.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. JOHNS N. B., September 5.—The Governor General of New Brunswick held a levee yesterday, at which four addresses, signed by many of the citizens, were presented. In response to the toast, "The health of the Governor General of the province of New Brunswick," Sir John Young said that as opposition to the union of the province with Canada is dying away, he looked for the speedy reconciliation of all parties. The advantages gained by the union of England and Scotland and the free traffic consequent, and the advantages conferred by the Zollverein during the last half century, are such results as should be looked for from the Confederation. Speeches were also made by the Lieutenant Governor of the Province. The healths of the Queen and the President of the United States were enthusiastically drank.

—Richmond papers state the Norfork and Great Western Railroad Co. concluded its deliberations in that city by entering into a contract for the sale of fifty thousand acres of land, now held or hereafter to be acquired by the Virginia International Land Company, composed of a number of wealthy men in New York. Another important matter brought to the consideration of the Norfolk and Great Western Company was the subject of the consolidation of their line with the Memphis, El Paso and Pacific Railroad. The Directors had an interview with a member of the Executive Committee of the road and took initiatory steps for the purpose of making their line part of the Southern Pacific road. A Committee was appointed to confer with the Committee of the Southern Pacific, to make a contract for the consolidation of the roads.

—Wells & Fargo's coach, which left Helena, Montana, August 29th, was robbed by highwaymen at Malade Summit, Utah, on the night of the 31st, of nearly thirty thousand dollars in gold. The passengers were not molested, and for that reason some forty thousand dollars escaped the clutches of the robbers. A large force left Corinne on the 1st inst. in pursuit of the marauders.

Gen. Canby will soon proclaim the result of the late election in Virginia. On the fourth Tuesday thereafter the Legislature will meet.

Brief News Items.

One of the reasons given for the suspension of Speed, the late Postmaster at Louisville, and the appointment of his successor, is that Speed insisted upon continuing Democrats in his office as clerks.

The Erie Railway Company is building a road from Paterson to Port Jarvis, to shorten the distance twenty-four miles. When completed the present track will be used for freight alone, and the new one for passengers.

The discussion about the probable fate of Dr. Livingstone has been renewed in England. Captain Burton, the African traveler, believes Livingstone is a prisoner at the town of Lucenda, the capital of the King of Cassebe, and an expedition is talked of to search for him.

The Indiana Secretary of State, on Thursday last, made out and transmitted to Hamilton Fish, at Washington, a certified copy of the enrolled joint resolution accepting and ratifying the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Why it was not done sooner is not stated. Governor Baker does not join in the certificate.

Thursday night at a saloon in Wheeling, a difficulty arose between two well known gentlemen of that city who were there passing the evening socially, when one called the other a liar. This was immediately followed by blows and during the melee a revolver was discharged—the ball taking effect in the right breast of a gentleman who was attempting to separate the principal actors in the affray. The wounded man was removed to his residence in North Wheeling, and during Friday suffered considerable pain. The ball it is feared penetrated the lungs, and had not been extracted.

SIDE by side, in New York, wagon loads of peaches and of lemons stand in the street, and cheap as peaches are, the foreign fruit is cheaper. "Thirteen for twenty-five cents" is the legend on the wagon of Messina fruit, while half a dollar will hardly buy the same weight of the Jersey product. One has come 3,000 miles by sea, the other a hundred miles by land.

A GERMAN paper of New Orleans, in alluding to the numerous gambling hells in that city, says: "If an energetic remedy against this evil is not soon found, our children of the next generation will become a miserable nation of gamblers. These houses are bound to be the death of the independence, the influence, and the future grandeur of the United States."

THE Fall River, (Mass.) Monitor says nearly $11,000 worth of bank checks and bonds were discovered in an upright boiler in front of the boiler works, near the American works, by a lad of about fourteen years of age, employed at the boiler works.
